DESCRIPTION

The DataMasters Mental Health Counselors mailing list allows you to reach these mental healthcare professionals through direct mail at their home address.

Mental health therapists help individuals focus on self-awareness, personal growth, and emotional mental health through counseling. This group of mental health counselors can include psychiatrists, psychologists, psychotherapists, occupational therapist, substance rehabilitation counselors, school counselors, and social workers. They help individuals cope with depression, low self esteem, addiction, stress, grief, marital issues, parenting issues, anger, infidelity, divorce, career choices, and mental disorders. Mental health therapists would purchase desks, chairs, sofas, wall decor and art, files, filing cabinets, computers, software, pens, papers, business attire, and magazines in the course of their duties. They would work in settings such as hospitals, private practice, clinics, schools, and in the corporate workplace.

Purchasers of the mental health counselors mailing list would include high end business apparel providers, office furniture providers, office decor providers, computer manufacturers, software providers, office supply providers, insurance providers, accounting professionals, trade journals, mental health organizations and non-profits, hospitals, rehabilitation facilities, and substance abuse facilities.
